

COME BACK HERE!

When Jack climbs up an enormous beanstalk, he discovers a giant's castle high up in the clouds. But the giant likes to eat little boys ...
How ever will Jack escape?

"A wonderful adventure.
Worth its weight in gold!"
~ Jack's mother

OH DEAR ...

NO FEAR!

ISBN 978-1-84895-707-7 902007
9 781848 957077 £6.99

Little Tiger Press

Jack and the Beanstalk

adapted by
Mara Alperin

Illustrated by Mark Chambers

 SCHOLASTIC

Grandmama - thank you for all the books for the wonderful paper they were always wrapped in! - M.A.
For Joe & Flynn, watch out for those giants! - M.C.

Jack and the Beanstalk

adapted by Mara Alperin
Illustrated by Mark Chambers

SCHOLASTIC INC.

First published in Great Britain in 2014 by Little Tiger Press Ltd.
No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without written permission of the publisher. For information regarding permission, write to: Tiger Tales, an imprint of Little Tiger Press Ltd,
1 The Cuckoo Centre, 189 Maresfield Road, London, England SW6 6AW
ISBN 9784318432703

First copyright © 2014 by Little Tiger Press. Illustrations copyright © 2014 by Mark Chambers.
All rights reserved. Published by Scholastic Inc., 557 Broadway, New York, NY 10012.
In the U.S.A. and Canada: Scholastic Inc. is the publisher of this book. SCHOLASTIC and associated logos are trademarks and/or registered trademarks of Scholastic Inc.
08987654321 19 20 21

Printed in the U.S.A.

40

First Scholastic printing February 2016

Deep in the countryside lived a widow and her son, Jack.
Their cottage was crumbling,
and their clothes were patched.
They were very, very poor.

One day, Jack's mother said, "We must sell our cow. Take her to market, Jack, and bring home some gold pieces."
And so he set off to town.

But before Jack had gotten very far, he met a strange little man.

"That's a fine cow," the man said. "I'll swap you five magic beans for her."

"Magic beans?" said Jack. "Are they really magic?"

"Magic they are, or chop off my beard and knit it into a sweater," croaked the little man.

Magic beans!

Jack couldn't wait to tell his mother. He clutched them tightly, and ran all the way home.

Jack's mother was furious.
"We need money, not useless old beans!"
she cried. And she threw them out of the window in disgust.

But late that night,
a tiny bean sprout poked out from the ground.

And then it grew...

and grew...

and GREW!

The next morning, the beanstalk stretched high into the sky.

"The beans were magic!" Jack cried.
"But what's at the top?"

Jack climbed up, up, up the beanstalk.

At last, he reached the very top.
There, shimmering in the sunlight, was ...

... a magnificent castle!

Just then, Jack's stomach rumbled.
I must find some breakfast, he thought,
and he tapped on the castle door.

The door creaked open,
and a huge giantess
smiled down.

"Hello!" Jack
shouted up.
"Please, do you have any food?"

"YOU POOR THING!"
boomed the giantess.

"COME RIGHT IN!
BUT QUICKLY,
BEFORE THE GIANT GETS UP!"

What a marvelous feast! There was an enormous loaf of bread and a gigantic jar of jelly. Jack dug in at once.

But suddenly, the room began to shake.

BOOM!
BOOM!
BOOM!

"OH MY GOODNESS!"
cried the giantess.

"HE'S COMING!"

And she shoved Jack under a teacup to hide.

Into the room stomped a big, scary, HUNGRY giant!

"FEE FI FO FUM!"

"I smell the blood of an Englishman!" he said.
"Be he alive, or be he dead, I'll grind his bones to make my bread!"

"Don't be silly — there's nobody here but us," the giantess scolded.
"Now go and wash before breakfast!"

Jack trembled. I must leave—now! he thought.

He was half way down the hall
when he heard a...

"SQUAWK!"

It was a hen with bright golden feathers!

"Help!" she clucked. "Set me free and I'll lay you golden eggs every morning!"

Jack scooped up the hen, but then he heard huge footsteps

THUNDERING
after them....

"FEE FI FO FUM!"

roared the giant.

"I smell the blood of an Englishman...
AND THERE HE IS!"

Jack raced out of the door. He jumped ...

A boy with brown hair, wearing a brown tunic and a red hat, is sliding down a large green beanstalk. He is holding a yellow chicken. The beanstalk is thick and has large green leaves. The background is a blue sky with a pink cloud.

...and slid down the beanstalk...

down...

down...

A boy with brown hair, wearing a brown tunic and a red hat, is hanging from a large green beanstalk. He is holding a yellow chicken. The beanstalk is thick and has large green leaves. The background is a blue sky with a pink cloud.

down...

...all
the way back to his cottage.

A boy with brown hair, wearing a brown tunic and a red hat, is hanging from a large green beanstalk. He is holding a yellow chicken. The beanstalk is thick and has large green leaves. The background is a blue sky with a pink cloud. A girl with red hair, wearing a pink dress and a yellow shirt, is standing on the ground, shouting. She is holding an ax. A small wooden cottage is visible in the background.

"Mother!
Quick! Bring the ax!" he shouted.

Jack's mother swung the ax at the beanstalk.

THWACK!

It shuddered and shook,
and then the giant came tumbling down!

"FEEEEEEEEEE FI FO..."

CRASH!

And that was the end of the giant.

Jack hugged his mother tight. "Look what I found!"
he said, and he showed her the golden hen.

"Oh, Jack," said his mother.
"I'm so glad you're safe. And you were right about those
magic beans!"

So Jack, his mother, and the golden hen all lived happily ever after. And with lots of golden eggs, they were never poor again!

